TWO PERSONS NEAR DEATH IN CRASH CHARITY BUREAU FAVORED

The CORE

Nationalist and radical fights in Canton have resulted in a death toll placed from 4,000 to 5,000. Incendiary fires are burning, and bodies litter the streets.

Two voting engagements in the House yesterday resulted in the retention of the Federal inheritance levy in the revenue bill and the elimination of the sales tax on automobiles.

William Randolph Hearst will appear before the special Senate committee this morning in the investigation launched following publication of charges that U. S. Senators were bribed by Mexican money.

Captain Balthazar Allemand, of the French steamer Formosa, which played a leading part in the rescue of lives in the Princess Mafalda disaster, dropped dead in court yesterday, as his attorney praised him for the part he took.

Mrs. Frances Grayson is on the point of hopping off for Europe in her plane, "The Dawn."

After being separated from his parents for two years because of their religious objections to manifestations of national patriotism, Russell Tremain, 12, was back home yesterday. The Tremains are members of a society opposed to all wars.

English postoffice telephone girls have started a dance club known as the "Wrong Number Club."

Wilson Conducts Three Inquests

Three inquests were conducted last night by Coroner Aubrey Wilson in Martinez. An inquest into the death of James Glibb, Southern Pacific blacksmith, who died in Selby December 9, revealed acute dilation of the heart as the cause of death. Glibb was 57 years of age and a native of California.

Acute dilation of the heart was also the verdict given by the jury in an inquest into the death of Vincent Zawadzki, of Bay Point, aged 52, and a native of Russia. Marshall B. Price, Shell Oil company employee in Martinez, found dead, December 11, was found to have died from lobar pneumonia. Price was 62 years of age and a native of California.

Clifford W. Dean, 21, and Maizie Pollakowsky, 18, both of Richmond, made application for a marriage license in Martinez yesterday.

CRISLY SLAYING STILL MYSTERY AS HAGEN DIES

Police Attempt To Get
Death-Bed Statement,
Man Seals Mouth

OAKLAND, Dec. 14. — Despite the efforts of police, Oscar Hagen, supposed key figure in the solution of the murder of Bessie Ferguson whose dismembered remains were found in the tule marshes of the Richmond Annex in 1925 died without issuing a statement. Hagen sustained injuries in an automobile-train collision at Adelaine street and the Sacramento Short Line crossing, Monday night.

He was first taken to the Oakland Emergency hospital and later removed to St. Anthony's hospital where he died.

WANTED STATED
A constant vigilance was kept at the bedside of Hagen, who police believed to be in a possession of valuable information in the case, as the case was known in the belief that Hagen would issue an eleventh hour statement.

Hagen recovered consciousness a short time before he died but before a statement could be secured from him, he lapsed into a coma from which he did not rally.

Inspector Robert Tracy sought to secure a declaration from the man but because of his condition, retired leaving the work to Dr. O. C. Hamlin, the attending physician.

CASE STILL MYSTERY

The Ferguson case remains unsolved. Various parts of a dismembered body were found in Contra Costa and Alameda counties which upon identification proved to be that of Mrs. Bessie Ferguson, a nurse, who according to her mother disappeared the night of August 19, 1925. The search for the slayers was begun with the finding of portions of the body in the swamps of the Richmond Annex. Coroner Chas. F. Donnelly and Chief of Police Dan Cox took the mystery up with Alameda county officials when other portions of the body were found on Bay Farm Island, Alameda.

CASE RECONSTRUCTED

The material was assembled and the investigators, representing officers from all cities in the East bay, marshaled by the district attorney, began to reconstruct the case, his inquiries developing the part that a number of prominent men had played in the life of Miss Ferguson and incidents that brought her dangerous enemies.

The case was not taken into the courts and the mother has refused to permit a burial of the portions of the body, which are being held as evidence in a local laboratory, where they were originally sent for examination.

WITNESS QUESTIONED

Hagen was questioned several times by the police without revealing any information but in March, 1926, he had become so unstrung over his part in the investigation that he was removed to a hospital for treatment. It (Continued on Page 8.)

BUILDS STORE FRONT

The cost of the improvement will be $1,000. Alexander plans to discontinue his battery service and will deal exclusively in radios.

Voter Registration To Exceed 27,000

MARTINEZ, Dec. 14.—Preparing for bi-annual registration of voters, which opens on January 1, County Clerk J. H. Wells is dispatching registration affidavits to the field deputies throughout the county. The clerk anticipates that Contra Costa's registration total for the coming year will exceed 27,000.

Under the law voters must register every two years and all affidavits of registration are cancelled. Although registrations are continuous throughout the year, registers will be closed thirty days prior to every election, thus allowing only those persons to vote who have been registered thirty days in advance of any given election.

ORGANIZATIONS REPRESENTED AT CIVIC MEET

Present Duplication To Be Avoided; Body To Investigate Scope

The first definite step in the coordination of Richmond's charitable organizations was taken last night in Memorial hall with the appointment of a representative committee of eleven to work out plans for the centralization of social service work.

Representatives of various social, civic and fraternal organizations doing philanthropic work in the city met in a session called by the city council at the request of W. C. Dobler, president of the Allied Council of World War Veterans. The meeting was held for the purpose of overcoming the present duplication of help to families in need by the organizations so that funds for charitable purposes will reach more cases.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The committee appointed to discuss the matter with the various organizations and to call another meeting at which definite plans (Continued on page 3)

Fears For Safety Turn To Joy As Premier Ace Wings Way To Capital

MOTHER OF LINDBERGH UNWORRIED

DETROIT, Dec. 14. — Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of "the nation's son" was just as calm today while the entire world waited for news of Col. Lindbergh's safe arrival in Mexico City as she was on that afternoon last May when word from Paris was being waited.

She taught her chemistry classes in Cass, Technical High School here and not until the uncontrovertible word of her son's safety was given her did she vouchsafe a single word, and all she did say was brief.

"I am very glad that he is safe after all that is the most important thing," she stated.

ORGANIZE FISH AND GAME ASSN

With an enthusiastic response from nearly fifty residents, the El Cerrito Fish and Game Protective Association was formally organized last night, by-laws adopted, and officers elected.

The object of the association is "to prevent the destruction of game by irresponsible hunters and fishermen, and to create a better understanding between farmer, landowner and sportsman."

The members agreed not to shoot on any inclosed or cultivated lands without the consent of the owner, and that when this consent was applied for, a card (Continued on Page 3)

347 Arrested By County Officers

Officers traveled a total of 7,299 miles during the month.

Man Gets 6-Months Term For Battery

Charles Corda of Richmond was yesterday given a six-month suspended jail sentence by Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom, when he appeared in court yesterday in answer to a charge of battery preferred by his wife, Mrs. Effie Corda. Unable to raise bail, Corda has been in the county jail the past two weeks since his arrest. He pleaded guilty to the charge, steady hand of the given severe reprimand by Judge Alstrom and admonished to refrain from further trouble with his wife.

(By Universal Service)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 14.—Lindbergh is here. He landed at Valbuena aerodrome at 2:39 this afternoon. (3:39 Eastern standard time.) He was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm by thousands of people who had patiently waited for many hours.

President Calles and Ambassador Morrow were among the first to reach the Spirit of St. Louis when the tired aviator stepped out of the cockpit.

SURROUNDED BY CROWD

Lindbergh was immediately surrounded by officials to protect him from the throngs who were eager to grasp his hand. Leaving Washington at 12:29 Tuesday noon Col. Lindbergh made the flight to the Mexican capital in 27 hours and ten minutes, something like six hours longer than he had expected would be required for the flight of approximately 2,000 miles.

Deep fogs and strong head winds kept continually forcing the intrepid over-Atlantic pioneer to change his course, and finally resulted in his losing his direction. As a consequence of losing his route, Lindbergh went around Mexico City and was reported at Toluca, about fifty miles south west of the Capital at about 2 o'clock.

TAKES LONGER ROUTE

A little more than half an hour later the whir of his wings gave notice of his approach from the West, indicating that he had wisely avoided the mountains to the east and had taken the slightly longer route into the city.

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was the first to actually shake Lindbergh's hand. He was closely followed by President Calles. The President and the Ambassador quickly escorted the flier to the president's automobile and he was driven to the American embassy.

THRONG GOES WILD

The scene at the aerodrome was almost indescribable. Bands struck up stirring music and the great throng went wild as they cheered. The tension that had existed for hours as report after report was circulated of his arrival at various places or that he had landed or fallen, broke into pandemonium as the great silver plane gracefully slid to earth under the cool, steady hand of the man who performed the same feat at night at Le Bourget, when he (Continued on Page 3)

San Pablan Held In Girl Assault

Joseph Bothello, 21, of San Pablo, also known as Joseph Arpado, charged with a statutory offense against a 15-year-old San Pablo girl, was yesterday morning held to answer to the superior court, following his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom.

The charges were filed on the complaint of the mother of the girl, whose name, because of her age, is being withheld. Deputy District Attorney Hiram E. Jacobs is handling the prosecution and the defendant is being represented by Attorney Will S. Roberson.

Service Directors Slate Meet Today

The board of directors of the Richmond Social Service Bureau will meet this afternoon in Justice of Peace Arthur A. A. Alstrom's court. Matters of importance will be discussed, according to Mrs. R. G. Lee, president.

Lindbergh, not a "Lucky Lindy" but the peer of Uncle Sam's brood of flying eagles, is receiving the wild acclamations of Mexico, after successful completion of a 2,000 mile flight to that country's capital.

Chamber Urged To Give Support For Immediate Dredging Of Channel

Government appropriation of $150,000 for Richmond harbor development has given impetus to a plan launched to provide immediately 400-feet wide and 30-foot deep leading from the outer to the inner harbor, according to announcement made before the directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce by Fred D. Parr of the Parr Terminal Corporation, at noon yesterday.

Parr brought the matter before the directors urging co-operation on the part of the chamber and the city council to draw the matter to the attention of the United States engineers in charge of San Francisco bay harbor development work.

He pointed out that by an additional cost of $27,200 by the city the work could be done at this time, the government sharing dollar for dollar with the City of Richmond for all expense of dredging the present channel to a depth of 30-feet with the exception of two-feet which expense would be borne by the city.

AID RESURVEY CLAIM

Parr urged that this dredging work be done now instead of waiting two or three years for government approval and dredging cost appropriation for a channel 400-feet wide and 32-feet deep as incorporated in the recent harbor bond issue. He said that within two weeks final plans for the great terminal facility on the inner harbor would be ready and that furthermore in doing this dredging now the City of Richmond would be in a much better position to get immediate action next spring on its petition for a re-survey of Richmond harbor. Besides, dredging done now would provide sufficient water for deep sea-going vessels to proceed directly to the inner harbor facility, an encouragement to more water-born commerce.

Under the recently voted $690,000 harbor bond issue the United States engineers through Congressman Charles F. Curry, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee of the lower house, has been asked to request a resurvey of Richmond harbor providing for wider and deeper channels. The new depth asked is 32-feet.

ADVANCES DATE

The dredging contemplated which is in the form of a request to the Richmond City Council simply advances the date of this work as it is generally conceded that the government is willing to ok the plan for wider and deeper channels. Under this plan the city is asked to contribute $27,200 in addition to what it would have to pay provided the work were to be done after the re-survey had been approved.

The government has $150,000 upon which to draw after July 1—the amount voted by Congress early this month, following the approval of the recommendations made by the United States bureau of army engineers in charge of harbor work. Out of this (Continued on Page 8.)

LESS BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Abel G. Warshawsky, American artist who has been painting and sketching for 20 years, says that in all that time he has found only four "perfect women" and that today he finds American women losing their beauty.

Without knowing precisely what he means by "perfect" and "beautiful," one would be foolish to fly into a passion at the artist's cruel statements.

It has been rather commonly felt that perfection, even in beauty, was more of an ideal than attainment in this world. And as for human beauty, that has never yet been so clearly standardized that all the world agrees on what it is.

We suspect the artist has some technical meaning which makes his statement clear to fellow-artists and leaves everyone else free to enjoy feminine beauty according to personal preferences.

THE OBSTRUCTING HORSE

A resident of Ninevah, Pa., driving his horse and buggy peaceably along Main street, Pittsburgh, was arrested for obstructing traffic. He felt much aggrieved.

"I come into town driving along at a nice orderly gait," he complained to the judge, "and I am told that I'm driving too slow. A motorist dashes past me and he's arrested for driving too fast. What are rights of a citizen on the road, anyway?"

It's a puzzling problem. The judge found it so, and had to take the case under advisement. The ultimate outcome, however, is as certain as the prophecy on Belshazzar's palace wall. The horse is found wanting and will have to be barred from city streets to stop clogging up the traffic. The only place for a horse will be before a plow or on a race track or bridle path.

President Coolidge evidently believes that the way to economy in government lies not only in cutting taxes down to normal but in cutting the sessions of a generous congress down to the same level.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Europe just now seems to need a policeman to jump in and swing a big stick, but the job doesn't appeal to Uncle Sam.

How To Earn Money!

All of us need help at some time don't we? And all of us are able to help others, even those more fortunate than ourselves. It's a great and splendid thing to be able to help others, and I think the less material wealth people have, the more they give in kindness and practical aid and sympathy. And it's a fine thing to be helped. Sometimes just a word, an opportunity, will mean far more than years of patient effort. But there are times, my dear readers, when I think that I have the nicest job of all. Because, if my suggestions can show you a way to "carry on" point out a road or a short-cut to your goal, then you can stand on your own feet—and that is the greatest help that any one can give you.

I am in need of some extra money which I could make up by working evenings and Saturday afternoons. If you could inform me of any places where such work could be obtained, I certainly would appreciate your kindness.—T. H. H.

Watchman for some of the new buildings that are going up would be good. Apply to the various construction companies. The regular employment agencies often carry part-time positions; register with a few of them. Garages and stores keep late hours, too, and restaurants. Since you are not looking for any special kind of work, try them all and watch the ads.

I am talented in song writing and composing music. Could you advise me where I could have them arranged and sell them?—A. K.

Let me suggest that you take some of your work to the music publishers. Any music store will tell you their names. And see if you are writing the type of song they want. If they like the tune, I am sure they will advise you about arranging the music. You might ask the musical comedy managers about them, too.

Grace and I have decided to open a high class candy shop.

We thought we could get the thing going with $500 or a little less. We expect to handle out high grade candies, as we think the neighborhood warrants it. Handle also some little fancy cakes and muffins such as many of your friends make. Possibly you could put us in touch with some ambitious woman who needs a little extra money. Frankly, will you please tell us how you feel about the whole thing?—H. L. T.

I wish I could print the whole letter, but I think any one can see the enthusiasm and confidence in just these few lines. That is what makes me say go ahead! If you feel that way about it, don't let any one stop you—it just must be a success. A word of caution about the $500—keep some of it for the unexpected, furnish the place as daintily and as simply as possible, and hang on to that precious capital. I hope that lots of my readers will write and tell me that they make muffins, or cakes, or candy, and I'll give them your address immediately. Success!

So many men feel that once they have wooed and won the girl of their choice that is that and the girl is theirs for all time!

That is why so many wives (and very new wives, too) write to me and tell me they are worried and afraid their husbands don't love them any more. And it is simply because the husband forgets to tell his wife that she looks sweet, or that he is proud of her ability as a cook or admires a new dress or forgets to take her flowers or candy on an anniversary.

Men do have a great many other things to think of besides anniversaries and paying pretty compliments to their wives. I know, but the successful husband is the "lover" as well as the "provider" in the household. He is happier in the role himself and his wife is happier too, and the combination makes for perfect harmony.

A bride of eight months writes me: "John is wonderful in every way. He is so ambitious and wants to earn more money and get ahead so that he can get things for me. He never thinks of himself, but always of me. But there is just one thing that makes me unhappy. He never notices the clothes I wear or tells me he loves me. I hate to be taken for granted so and that is the way he treats me."

Wouldn't John be surprised if he knew how his wife feels. I wish that I could drop a hint to John and all the other married young men and tell them how much difference a little attention and praise and appreciation makes to the "little wife" they are working so hard for.

Dear Patricia Lee:

No matter what I do, I don't seem to please my husband any more. He doesn't find fault exactly, but he never comments on things that I do to please him the way he did when we were first married. And another thing, I think I could wear the same dress day after day for a year and never have my hair waved and he wouldn't know the difference. Yet he is a good husband and does everything for me.—GRACE R.

Yours is no uncommon lot, but cheer up! I'll bet the man is so deeply engrossed in making money and planning ways to keep expenses down that he really doesn't notice some things that seem quite important to you. Try to be patient with him, make a pal of him and startle him sometimes with new and elaborate meals!

Simple advice, maybe but I have known it to work.

Dear Patricia Lee—
I am 35, homely and unmarried. I have always worked hard to build a good home for my future family. I have been intimate with many girls, easy ones, and have lived with one or two of them. One is angry with me because I won't marry her, but I cannot respect a girl who has lived with a man that she wasn't married to. Am I asking too much to think I can find a girl different from those I have known? Why do girls think it is all right to give themselves to their fancy and expect afterward to get a good substantial husband who won't

"Fasting for health is not a new idea. We find mention of this cure in ancient medicine and the Bible speaks of men who successfully lived through long fasts.

"I prepared for my fast by decreasing the amount of my food at meals and the number of meals themselves. Two days before I began the actual fast on October 6, I only had two meals. The next day I managed to pull through on one and on the sixth, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, and a day of fasting and prayer, I began my fast.

"During the second and third days I experienced an almost overwhelming desire for food but managed to overcome it by occupying my mind with things other than food. On the fifth day I almost lost the battle, when I fell victim to a wave of nausea.

"When that came on I added a small portion of orange juice to some water, drank it and the feeling passed. From then on it was a losing fight for the stomach. I had mastered it and today I have absolutely no desire for food. I feel that I could continue indefinitely with nothing but water for sustenance, but have decided to break my fast. This is not due to any weakening of will power, but because of the necessities of business.

"I have been conducting my business regularly during the fast and have experienced no ill effects from so doing. However, I have decided to break the fast, but I will start another one shortly after the Christmas season is over.

"It is my desire to fast for sixty days. I feel right now that I could do so, and if the busy season in the jewelry business was not coming I would continue until the sixtieth day had passed to clearly demonstrate that I had mastered my stomach and bodily desires for food."

Mr. Rosenthal said that he was recently examined by a physician, who pronounced him to be in perfect physical condition. It is his only regret, he said that he had not started fasting earlier in life. During the fast he has lost more than 30 pounds, dropping from 190 pounds on October 6, the day his fast started to 157 pounds.

"It is my desire to fast for sixty days. I feel right now that I could do so, and if the busy season in the jewelry business was not coming I would continue until the sixtieth day had passed to clearly demonstrate that I had mastered my stomach and bodily desires for food."

Mr. Rosenthal said that he was recently examined by a physician, who pronounced him to be in perfect physical condition. It is his only regret, he said that he had not started fasting earlier in life. During the fast he has lost more than 30 pounds, dropping from 190 pounds on October 6, the day his fast started to 157 pounds.

"I have been conducting my business regularly during the fast and have experienced no ill effects from so doing. However, I have decided to break the fast, but I will start another one shortly after the Christmas season is over.

A Thrilling Detective Story!! BLAKE of Scotland Yard

By ROBERT F. HILL

CHAPTER VIII
Blake ran around the lodge in the opposite direction and came face to face with a black bearded man in the outfit of a fur trapper. Without a word the two pitched into each other. It was a very even struggle, with first one and then the other on top. Just as Blake seemed to be getting the upper hand, his foot slipped and before he had recovered his footing, the trapper hit him over the head. As Blake sank in the snow the Spider ran to where he had tied his horse. Blake, recovering rapidly from the effects of the blow, sprang on the horse behind. Lady Diana, who had been an anxious witness to the titanic struggle in the snow, saw them galloping away, fighting like mad on the horse. As she was desperately trying to decide what it was best for her to do, she saw out of the window Albert Drexel, panting and holding his side, coming staggering toward the lodge. Picking up her hat, Lady Diana slipped back of the curtains. Drexel rushed in.

With a quick, nervous step he glided over to the fireplace and lifted one of the stoves. From the hole he extracted a paper.

Sudden anger got the better of her and she stepped out from behind her hiding place. In a voice of utter disdain she exclaimed:

"Well, Albert, at last we have found you."

Albert looked at her as though she had been a ghost.

But Albert's discoveries had just begun. Blake was standing in the doorway. The trapped boy recoiled, dashed back to the center of the room and looked wildly around him for a way of escape.

"It's no use, Drexel. We have you and you can't well face the music. You would have had to do it anyway sooner or later."

"Oh, Angus, dear, I'm so glad," exclaimed Diana joyfully. "I was afraid that terrible man had hurt you. I almost died of fright."

"That was the Spider. While that man is at liberty there is no safety for any of us. That includes you, too, Drexel. What have you done with Lord Blanton's formula?"

"He has it now. I saw him take it from his hiding place in the hearth. But what I don't see yet," objected Diana, doggedly, "is why your suspicions fell on Albert."

"Do you recall the first time we returned to Blanton Towers that night? While you were talking with Lord Blanton, I walked into the library and thought I would try to discover how that formula got back into the lead chamber of my penit."

"Who is this woman—this woman all in white?" asked Blake.

"Don't answer." The command startled all of them. They had been so intent on Albert's confession that they had not heard the door open. The Spider was standing there, and behind him two men with guns held in readiness. Albert and Blake stood up. Albert still had the formula in his hand.

"Here," commanded the Spider, "give me what you have in your hand."

Slowly he held out the paper. But before the bearded man could grasp it, Blake had snatched it out of Albert's hand and threw it into the fire where it burned to a black, shriveled pile of ashes.

Xmas Seal Sales Are Progressing

Sale of Christmas seals in Richmond is progressing, according to Mrs. R. G. Lee, who declared yesterday that, despite the other campaigns held this year a large fund for tubercular work and milk fund for undernourished children will be raised this year.

Merchants along Macdonald avenue are cooperating in the campaign by keeping a supply of seals on hand. The Eagle Creamery and the Maytag company have already volunteered to aid in the campaign.

Mrs. Lee stated that other merchants desiring to help in the campaign can secure seals from headquarters.

Berkeley Smith of the San Pablo producers has been assisting in the drive as has Miss Mamie Condon of El Cerrito. Mrs. L. W. Winsthoff and the Girl Scouts will begin work this week in aiding the sale of the seals.

Sportsmen Plan For Big Show

Plans for a show to be presented by the Richmond Sportsmen's club, January 9 and 10, were completed last night in Brotherhood hall. Two reels of wild game life will be presented.

D. F. Graham reported on the meeting of the Associated Sportsmen clubs of San Francisco, December 1, at which time the clubs decided to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone destroying property on which they hunt through the presentation of a club card.

Charles Mitchell is chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet to be held December 28. Another dollar-a-year warden was appointed last night making five such wardens from the local club.

Mrs. Theresa Persico, mother of Leo Persico local realtor, is reported considerably improved. Mrs. Persico has been seriously ill the past several days.

LON CHANEY

Mockery

CHANEY has done it again. He has surpassed himself now as the Russian peasant in "Mockery," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's grim story of the Russian revolution, is among the best of the California theatre. He went from "Mr. Wu," in which he played the enigmatic mandarin, directly into a role so amazingly different that it is difficult indeed to believe that the same man did both.

Chaney's role sweeps the entire horizon of human emotions in the great epic. In this it is a masterpiece.

The new play portrays Chaney as a strange, Russian peasant thrust against his will into the red struggle, where he becomes enmeshed in an astounding comedy character role as the very heart and center of the drama. Barbara Bedford is a charming woman as Tatiana, the woman for whom in the end he sacrifices his life in a climax that grips the audience.

Chaney's role is a notable one. Puffy, famous European stage star as seen in the role of the sinister Ivan and Mack Swain in a comedy character role as the very heart and center of the drama. Barbara Bedford is a charming woman as Tatiana, the woman for whom in the end he sacrifices his life in a climax that grips the audience.

Other features include "Ten Years Old," an "Our Gang" comedy starring the "Our Gang" screen tests and other features.

CHANEY PLAYS PEASANT ROLE AT CALIFORNIA

From a Chinese aristocrat to a Russian peasant, this is the amazing leap in characterization of Chaney, who, as Sergei, the Russian peasant in "Mockery," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's grim story of the Russian revolution, is among the best of the California theatre. He went from "Mr. Wu," in which he played the enigmatic mandarin, directly into a role so amazingly different that it is difficult indeed to believe that the same man did both.

Oil Company Begins Test Wharf Borings

Test borings for the construction of a wharf on the outer harbor by the Petroleum Securities company were started yesterday according to Frank R. Seaver, personal representative of E. L. Doheny in the construction of the Richmond plant.

As soon as data is compiled after the test piles have been driven actual construction of the wharf will be started. The wharf will be located at the eastern end and at right angles to the Parr Terminal company wharf No. 1, and will be located on the three and one-half acres of property leased from the city of Richmond.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ellen Phillips, of 1187 Delaware street, Berkeley, and mother of Bert Phillips of this city, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Phillips who was 78 years of age, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rose Hallenbeck, of Berkeley yesterday. Deceased was a native of Michigan, and had resided in Berkeley for seven years and in California for 20 years.

She is survived by her son, Bert Phillips, of Richmond, three daughters, Mrs. Tressa Duncan, of Berkeley; Mrs. Lois Hobson, of Stockton; Mrs. Lois Hobson, of Michigan; and another son, Rodney Prentiss, of Michigan. Fourteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren also survive.

Shaffer Rites Held By Local Legion

Theodore Shaffer, who passed away from injuries sustained in a fall in November, was laid to rest in Sunset View cemetery yesterday afternoon, with Richmond Post No. 10, American Legion, in charge. Rev. Weldon M. Wilson officiated at services held from the Bert Curry chapel.

"BEAU GESTE" PULSING DRAMA AT RICHMOND

Add one more title to the list of truly great motion pictures. With the appearance of Paramount's "Beau Geste," which came to the Richmond Theatre last night, it becomes necessary to place the roll of screen masterpieces.

The magnificent broad sweep of this drama of the French Foreign Legion has never before been executed, than that of the devotion of three young brothers, and their unflinching sacrifice for each other.

Colman, giving the finest and most romantic performance of his brilliant career, and Noah Berry as Sergeant Legation, "the cruelest, fiercest and bravest soldier" in the Legion, dominate the action, as close rivals for screen honors.

There are a thousand thrills in "Beau Geste," and a hundred of colorful foreign scenes, revealing across the sand plains, the revolt among the Legionnaires, and their desperate defense against the desert hordes in addition to countless other pulse-leaping moments.

There is no need to use words to describe the drama, which is a masterpiece of the French Foreign Legion, and a masterpiece of the French Foreign Legion, and a masterpiece of the French Foreign Legion.

RUMANIA TOWN SAYS DEMPSEY IS NATIVE SON

(By Universal Service.)
BUCHARST, Dec. 14.—Though Jack Dempsey has entered the ranks of the ex-champions and his star has passed its zenith, the natives of the little town of Cluj in Roumania, once a part of Hungary, proudly insist he is their most famous native son, and invite him to return home and tell them all about his adventures since leaving in 1905.

Against the known fact that Jack is the son of American parents, one lawyer, Doctor Corneli Domsa declares the prize fighter is his "little brother Tudor" who ran away to America, and changed his name Domsa to Dempsey.

The Hungarian lawyer and his neighbors are convinced that Jack is none other than Tudor who was famous as the strong man of Cluj when he was just sixteen years old.

Dr. Domsa, who in reality startlingly resembles the ex-champion, told the Universal Service correspondent his reasons for believing Dempsey is his long lost brother.

"After Tudor went to America," he worked in an iron foundry. The immigrants who went to America with him upon returning to Cluj entertained the town with the descriptions of Domsa's strength and prowess in the far country. Later my brother went to Detroit from where he wrote us his last letter in 1919.

"Tudor never was very good about writing letters. After that we heard he had joined a circus and became a famous boxer. In 1925 a neighbor returning from Detroit said Tudor was champion boxer of America because of his great strength and that he had changed his name to Dempsey.

"However, that may be, I and my six brothers and sisters are convinced that Jack Dempsey is our long lost brother and we would be very happy to see him."

FAIR OR FOUL
By JAMES M. KAHN

Connie Mack, the who has managed and managed the Philadelphia Athletics, can't remember when he started, much he expected to be a conservative gentleman of an old school, sticking to the cautious old policy the old boys cling to so enviously—but he's not. No; tossing a dozen left hooks into the old traditions and policies, Mr. Mack professes to gamble and though he has yet to win, he has lost less than most.

One more pennant will bring back into a World's Series before Eddie Collins takes over the management of the A's. Last season, Connie blew the works on a gambling chance for a pennant when he signed Cobb, Wheat and Collins, veterans who were known to be incapable of playing through a full season with efficiency. Yet, spending with a lavish hand, he signed them in the hope that they'd get the A's away in front, and that his reinforcements would be able to hold this lead when his veterans slipped down in the closing half of the campaign. It listened great, but the only trouble with his system was that it didn't work out that way.

Now, with Cobb and Wheat gone and Collins on the bench, Connie is still for taking chances; though this time he'll experiment with young talent. He recently procured Ossie Orvill from the Milwaukee Brewers, who appears to be one of those versatile baseballers who bob up periodically. He plays the outfield, hits hard and takes his turn on the pitching mound, and as Mr. Mack is hard up for both efficient outfielders and effective pitchers, he remains perplexed as to just what he will use Orvill for.

The possibility that Connie will gamble again and use him as both is not remote, and if he does it will be interesting to see if Mack can develop what other managers have tried to develop with no success: a two-time ball player. There have been a lot of attempts but offhand I don't recall any howling success. On the other hand, I can think of several distinguished flops.

Jack Bentley is one who comes readily to mind. Jack could hit—remember four occasions on which he stuck homers into those rightfield stands while pinch hitting—and a few people thought he could pitch. He was also a again. And we can assure our famous relative that all of us are prosperous, and have no intention of asking him for any of his hard earned money if he only will just come pay his old home a visit."

Ramblers Defeat Crockett Cage Team By 17-1

The Richmond Ramblers last night defeated the Crockett Community team by a score of 17-1 on the Union high school courts. In spite of the fact that E. Ellis, one of the Ramblers' high point men, was out of the lineup the locals played good ball.

A. Ellis, Hugo and Don Shoemaker played a good offensive game, while Rice, Ripley and Dave Shoemaker took care of the defense. The lineup was: Hugo, f. 3; Don Shoemaker, f. 3; A. Ellis, c. 8; Rice, g. 4; Dave Shoemaker, g. 2; Ripley, g. 1; Christian, f. 2.

have not added a win to their record. In the first game of the evening Ben Malik's Style Experts will meet the LaMoine Druggists. The Druggists have not had a lot of luck this year while Ben's team have been able to win a majority of games. In the last game they played they defeated the Bankers by a score of 61 to 42, due to the goal shooting of Fred Gaddberry and Peters.

Of course, Berg must not be considered too critically, for he uses baseball as a means to an end and never treated it as seriously as he does his academic studies, which his baseball salary pays for. Handy Andy Reese of the Giants is another, but his helpful and laudable work at third base and in the outfield last season won't help him much this year in trying to beat Freddy Lindstrom and some of those additional outfielders out of a job.

Let me ask you this, Glendon: How far do you think the large Master Ruth would have got in the wholesale home run business if they had kept him circulating between right field and the pitcher's box?

The Stringer Smoke House gang will mix with the Mechanics Bankers at the Roosevelt, Junior high school gymnasium this evening according to an announcement made yesterday by W. L. "Doc" Seawright. So far this year the Stringer team has not lost a game while the Bankers

I know my home-rolled cigarettes

I OUGHT to. I've been rolling 'em for many a moon. And the best I ever smoked were rolled with Prince Albert, the National Joy Smoke. You believe this the instant you get a whiff of P.A.'s class-by-itself fragrance. When you roll one and light up, that's the real thrill. Cool as a cave where the sun cannot reach. Fragrant as honeysuckle in bloom. Mellow and mild, yet with plenty of body to satisfy completely. And for pipe-smoking, boy, P.A. surely is the goods.

The Whole Family will enjoy the Comfort, Happiness and Prosperity that this desirable present will bring to you all for years and years to come.

DO YOU WANT IT?

Of Course you do, so will any others. "First Come - First Served"

HERE IS THE STORY

Mr. [redacted] decided to build a home in Mira Vista, and selected plans for a five room house and garage that contained everything one could desire in a convenient, modern up-to-date home. He selected a beautiful corner lot 55x80 that is "just right" for his "ideal home" with a view that would always be pleasing. Well, he built and built, added something here and something there; the best was none too good for "his home." Unfortunately he did not "stop to count the cost" for when the house was finally finished he found that he had gone far beyond his means; he was unable to "pay the bills." The creditors were compelled to take the property over and we have been instructed to sell it for the amount of their int. est.

The total selling price is $5250.00 Less Christmas present $1000.00

Net selling price $4250.00 Payable $500 or less cash, then about $40 per month which is what it would rent for; so the first payment is about all it will cost—lot, house and all.

QUARTET HELD FOR FRAUD TO APPEAR TODAY

Charges of criminal conspiracy preferred by William G. Jackson of Richmond in July, 1926, will be heard today when two men and their wives appear before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom today.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. William Keithley are the defendants, who according to Jackson conspired to defraud him of livestock and implements of a ranch in Calaveras county.

The Wakefields were arrested in July 1926 and posted bond for their appearance. The Keithleys were arrested where they were posted bail and whence they are being returned for hearing today. Jackson declared that he sold his Calaveras county ranch to

Santa Fe And Espee Fight Entry Of W.P. At Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, Dec. 14.—Application of the Western Pacific for a franchise through industrial row brought out a record crowd for the meeting of the city council last night and it was necessary in order to accommodate the gathering to adjourn to the civic auditorium.

A. H. Jongseneel, representing the industries of this city, made a plea for better rail facilities and presented data showing that industries have waited as much as eight days for cars. He stated that the entrance of the Western Pacific means better service and will afford relief to the industries. He made a splendid plea for favorable consideration of the franchise.

C. W. Scheller of the Great Western Electric-Chemical company stated that the services received at present is far from adequate and severely criticized the present rail facilities.

Attorney Hugh Donovan appeared on behalf of the Southern Pacific, and T. P. Kent represented the Santa Fe in protest against the application of the Western Pacific. The latter road was represented by Frank P. Angellotti, former chief of the California Supreme Court.

The ordinance will come before the city council for final adoption January 3.

Executives of the Western Pacific have indicated a willingness to accede to a request of Pittsburg officials for aid in paving Eighth street. In return for the franchise if it is granted, officials have asked that the railroad construct a modern passenger station.

Lindy Given Big Welcome As Hop To Mexico Ends

As the flight across the Atlantic had never been made before Lindbergh jumped the big pond last May, so the flight from the American capital to the capital of the sister republic across the Rio Grande had never been accomplished in one hop until Lindbergh climbed into his old reliable "We" and mumbled:

"WE" MAKE IT

"To hell with the weather, let's go." His spirit caught the warm Mexican fancy with a whoop, and when it was known last night that he was winging his way over Dixieland, toward the gulf, heading in a bee line for old Mexico, the crowds began to gather at the aerodrome. They waited all night, many of them, and hundreds of the first comers were still in the crowds when he arrived.

RUSH FOR PLANE

They made a rush for the plane and were only stopped by the heavy detachments of police and soldiers sent by President Calles and the Mexican government to make the aerodrome "safe for Lindy." When the flier was whisked away to the embassy, the troops surrounded the "Spirit of St. Louis" and saved it from being torn wing to wing as souvenirs.

Again, as Lindbergh was what Ambassador Herrick at Paris called the "New American Ambassador of the air," he has become for Mexico the sort of hero that makes him a new ambassador of peace from the north.

Two Near Death In Bus Crash

W. A. Barclay, driver of the bus, declared that he had completed filling his gasoline tank and was preparing to start the bus when the accident occurred.

Following treatment at the Emergency hospital, Seidel was taken to the Berkeley General hospital and Mr. and Mrs. Parker were removed to the Cottage hospital.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble. Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants. Nature's own remedies that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. ## TO URGE CITY ACTION

The harbor committee of the Chamber of Commerce headed by E. B. Bull, vice-president of the chamber and president of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, will meet this week and draw up suitable recommendations to be presented to the Richmond City Council.

"The idea," said Parr, "is to put the city of Richmond in a position to tell the world that just as soon as the construction of the inner harbor facility is completed, deep water leads from the outer harbor to the inner harbor wharf. It means that Richmond can take advantage of deep water facilities anywhere from two to three years in advance of the date should it wait for government approval of a survey of its harbor and with only an additional cost of $27,200."

STREET CAR FARES

The matter of transportation and street car fares was brought up by Director W. W. Scott who as head of the chamber's transportation committee reported that the Key System Transit Company was endeavoring to get the railroad commission's approval of providing one fare in the city limits of Richmond instead of two as at present.

H. A. Johnston will represent the Chamber of Commerce in the movement to centralize and concentrate the social welfare work of the community along the lines of other cities. The various agencies interested in community charities are preparing to pool their interests.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble. Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants. Nature's own remedies that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at La Moine Drug Co.
